

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

MARY GRAHAM BONNER

STRANGE LIZARDS

Billie Brown went wandering afar. To the South and to the West he traveled and he saw many curious lizards there.

When he came back to Brownland he told them about his new friends, though some of them he had seen before in his visits to the zoo.

"Of course I saw the little Horned Toad. I think he's a nice little creature. He seemed to be very contented and happy with life and was most polite and friendly to me."

"Then I saw Mr. Chuckawalla. He's an enormous lizard."

"I told him he was as big as a crocodile or an alligator or something enormous, such as those creatures are, but he said to me:

"Just the same, I'm a lizard."

"He lived where it was terribly hot. Oh, so hot, and he lived in between quite small places in the rocks, where it didn't seem as though he really had room enough."

"He wore a brown suit and it didn't seem to fit him at all."

"He asked me to have a meal of desert plants, and they didn't look very good, and so I said:

"Thank you kindly, Mr. Chuckawalla, but they're going to save supper for me."

"Then I saw Red Racer, a serpent able to beat any one racing, I'd say."

"There was Red Rattlesnake, too, but he did not have much to say, for he was feeling sleepy, having just had his dinner."

"I met his cousin, Sidewinder, walking sideways in his curious fashion."

"And there was Spiny Swift Lizard rushing about in a great hurry and making good time, as they say, too."

"I saw some beautiful lizards, with wonderful colors and styles being worn by them."

"Some of them had most beautiful coloring and some of the plans for their lizard costumes must have been made by great artists!"

"I had a little chat with a Zebra-Tailed Lizard, who raised his tail and then dropped it, so that it almost seemed as though he had dropped down himself upon the desert so he could hardly be seen, and there were relatives of theirs doing the same way."

"But it was really wonderful to think how those creatures can get along so well by themselves."

"They know how to run and hunt for their food and how to find it and how to escape dangers."

"They know so many little tricks. They're so smart."

"And the only teacher they have ever known is really the desert!"

"I'm glad to be back though, where it is a little cooler."

"But Billie," said his brother Bessie, "it has been a very, very hot day."

"It seems almost cold to me," said Billie Brown.

And then Billie sat around and talked until almost the moon felt sleepy, but he wanted to describe to his Brownland family what these strange, curious new friends of his looked like, and to tell them, too, of ones seen before and of their habits and ways when free.

Jar for Canning

David was anxiously watching his mother seal the marmalade. "Do you think," he asked, "you might have a jar or two left that I could have for some canning?"

"For what?" asked his mother.

"These," he replied, producing a basketful of lizards. "They'll taste good on a hot day next summer."

Bites His Words in Pieces

The little boy who had just moved in next door was the first child Dwight had ever heard stutter. "Why, he talks so funny. He bites his words in little pieces while he is saying them," Dwight explained.

Baby Brother Was "She"

Jack has two younger brothers and can scarcely comprehend the arrival of a baby sister at his home. When asked about it by a neighbor, he replied: "I've got another baby brother, but he's a she."

THINGS THAT HELP

A small "housewife" holding needle, thimble and thread, carried in the apron pocket, will be found helpful in taking a stitch or two which would otherwise go unstitched.

When taking disagreeable medicine hold a piece of ice in the mouth a moment; it dulls the sense of taste so the medicine goes down easier.

Patterns in oilcloth make fine models for patchwork, for those who enjoy that kind of work.

Keeping things from year to year because we may need them sometime is a weariness to the flesh and really a most selfish way to live, while others need the things and could be made comfortable and happy with them.

The stains of water on enamel in the sink and lavatory may be removed with a few drops of muriatic acid rubbed over. Rinse well or it will eat the enamel.

Cool all bread and rolls on a rack. By covering with a cloth or pan the bread steams and it destroys the delicious flavor which is the chief charm of well-baked bread.

Onions cooked with tart apples, adding a little sugar, salt and trying in sweet fat, make a delightful change to serve with either chops or beefsteak.

A roll of adhesive tape is indispensable in the household. A piece put on a sore thumb, a corn, or callous will give relief.

Pure glycerin diluted with a little lemon juice or bay rum or rose water is a good softener of the hands.

To remove fresh paint apply turpentine; old dry paint should be soaked in naphtha—away from all fire.

Charcoal is a fine absorber of odors. Keep some in the ice chest, in cupboards where there is any dampness and renew it occasionally. Keep the used charcoal to start the fire, for it is just as good for that as the fresh.

Baked Apples With Dates.—Wash and core four small apples. Fill the centers with sugar and two dates. Bake until tender and serve with one-half cupful of cream whipped and sweetened with a little sugar.

Health Is Welcome After Asthma's Agony
Health Talk
By Froude & MacKinnon, D's.C.
Health is most welcome to anyone after having suffered the agonizing struggle for breath which is characteristic of the spasmodic struggle with this trouble. Asthma, some have considered a climatic trouble, but this is true only to a very slight extent. Those who change climate in the hope of relief are nearly always disappointed.
A moist lake or sea atmosphere may irritate but does not cause asthma, or the big majority of those who live in such an atmosphere would have ing Crime Wave and Attacks on Banks Called Forth Increased Measures of Defense.

Criminal activities against banks have reached unprecedented proportions in recent months, according to a report made to the American Bankers Association by its Protective Committee, which directs the work of the Association aimed to combat criminal operations against banks.

"Sharp increases in crime perpetrated against banks definitely prove that instead of being broken, the crime wave has risen to heights heretofore unknown to the banking fraternity," the report said. "Strangers continue to trick or otherwise inveigle unsuspecting banks into making generous contributions to their cause—a terrific toll which defies the imagination. Bank burglars and hold-up men have apparently redoubled their activities during the last six months. The number of criminals preying their trade in this field has grown to such proportions that there is now a fair sized army comprising this more desperate type of criminal, specializing against banks."

"Don't cash checks for strangers," is the warning emphasized by the Committee in view of the situation. It adds:

"We are gratified to report favorable results from a good proportion of cases investigated, which are due to the nation-wide activities of our detective agents through their staff of specialists in bank crimes. In Montana two fearless, well organized bands of professional yeggmen attacked more than a score of banks with such reckless abandon that the situation seemed beyond control. Realizing that conditions demanded prompt and drastic treatment, a trained crew of operatives were delegated to conduct a special investigation throughout the state. Nineteen men and two women were arrested. Of these four already are serving sentences, three are on trial, four are awaiting trial and the rest were freed for lack of evidence.

"A similar round-up was carried out in Oklahoma. Conditions in other states similarly bad were investigated and with the co-operation of local, state and federal authorities and the co-ordinated activities of members the percentage of arrests and convictions has materially increased."

The report pointed out that figures covering bank burglaries over a period of thirty years showed that 1,609 banks, members of the Association and entitled to its protective services, have been attacked, suffering losses aggregating $1,198,000, while non-members to the number of 2,357 were burglarized and suffered $4,250,000 in losses. The point was also brought out that there are only half as many non-members as members, so that these losses among them represent an excessively high rate as compared with members.

Aid Diversified Farming
A state bank of Granville, North Dakota, that is encouraging diversified farming among its farmer patrons, has purchased some purebred stags for the benefit of its customers. The bank realizes the necessity of good sires for the dairy herd, and has set aside a certain amount of money to be used in having a man look up animals and ship them to Granville.

Bankers of Lee County, Mississippi, are employing a dairy trained expert to give his whole time to the development of dairying. His salary and expenses are paid by the banks of the county in proportion to their deposits. This expert helps to arrange for loans to purchase cows, sees that the farmers have shelter and feed to care for the cattle, and advises with them in figuring out rations and in determining what crops to grow. He makes special engagements to attend scrub bull funerals.

Report on Camp By Mrs. Hudler

President of Kingston American Legion Auxiliary—Gives Detailed Account of Work Done at Veterans' Mountain Camp.

At a meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary, Post 150, Friday evening, the following report was given by Mrs. Robert J. Hudler, president of the auxiliary, who recently visited the camp as a representative from Post 150:

Because of the propaganda emanating from certain quarters about the care of the patients and the cost of maintaining the Veterans' Mountain Camp, conducted by the American Legion, at Tupper Lake, in the Adirondacks, a delegation numbering 115, of Legionnaires, Auxiliary members and those interested in the disabled veterans, made a special trip to the camp on Monday evening and devoted all day Tuesday on a tour of inspection. As a result of their visit more boosters have been added to offset those who criticize without investigation.

The American Legion has a most wonderful tract of land containing 1,275 acres in the heart of the Adirondacks, and in this purchase was included some 18 buildings in a most wonderful state of preservation which could not be constructed today for twice the amount of the purchase price, which was $35,000. It is most ideally located for the purpose for which it was founded: The care of the tubercular veterans, and eventually for all veterans who are broken down in health.

The buildings are placed on three points, one known as Warren Point, the other Paradise Point and in the center, the Farm.

At Warren Point, is the infirmary, which is a well constructed building right on Tupper Lake. It was formerly the home of Mr. Barbour's son. The management of the Veterans' Mountain Camp raised this building, installed a steam heating plant and one floor, which contains three wards with 36 beds. On the upper floor is the kitchen, the dining room, a large resting room and a library containing 5,000 volumes, together with accommodations for the nurses of which at the present time, there are two, Miss Hubbard, in charge, assisted by Miss Benz. Just in the rear of the infirmary have been constructed, at a cost of $750 each, six lean-tos, each containing four beds. All of the construction work, such as sewage and the water system have been completed at Warren Point. The toilet facilities, showers and the baths are of the most sanitary construction and have been approved by the State Board of Health. There are at present at the infirmary 36 veterans all of whom are high in praise of the camp and its condition and all of whom admitted decided improvement in health since their arrival there. In a conversation with the auditor of the Veterans' Mountain Camp, who is at present preparing a statement for the Associated Press on financial conditions and hospitalization, he stated that the camp has been in operation for 18 months and that the average attendance at the camp has been 20, and that the cost per capita for the care and maintenance of these patients including the overhead and exclusive of construction and development, is but a little over $2.00 a day, which is a far cry from the wide publicity given some time

AMERICAN CAR WINS BOMBAY ROAD EVENTS.

Details of a fine victory scored by an American made automobile against British, French and Italian cars at Bombay, India, have just been received in this country in the official report of the Bombay Motor Club.

The event was the Bombay-Poona Reliability run, held March 1. Twenty-two cars competed, of which nine were American. The cars were scored for acceleration, performance on a four-mile hill-climb, on a four-mile average speed test, and for reliability on a run of 120 miles from Bombay to Poona. This route crosses the Western Ghats, with steep mountain roads. A Chandler was the winner, with a perfect score in the first class of cars, and was awarded a handsome trophy cup. A British Rolls-Royce was second in the same class, and was awarded a silver medal.

The Chandler was the only car in the class for larger cars to finish with a perfect score of 200 points. It easily won the acceleration test, covering the course in nine seconds, one second faster than the Rolls-Royce. In the four-mile hill-climb the Chandler was second fastest, the Rolls-Royce being the first to the top.

The twenty-two cars competed in five different classes, the Chandler being in the first class. The winner of one lower class also finished with a perfect score. This was a British Rover, but its acceleration test was three seconds slower than the Chandler, and its four-mile hill-climb was more than three minutes slower than the Chandler.

Our Growing Population.
The following births have been reported to the board of health:

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Walter Keator of Olive, twins, at the Kemble Sanitarium, Dorothy and Donald.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward E. Brigham, 65 Linderman avenue, at Kingston City Hospital, a daughter, Jean Elizabeth.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Glass, San Diego, California, at 23 Van Gaasbeck street, a son, Martin Ean.

Mr. and Mrs. John Magee Lowe, Boulevard, a daughter, Pauline May.

ago by those who seemingly have no thought of the disabled veteran that it cost $10.00 per day for the care and maintenance of the patients. The auditor stated that those who attempted to juggle with figures took the month of December last year, when the greatest portion of the construction work was going on and included this improvement in the overhead.

At the farm, there is the residence of Dr. Cosgrove the superintendent of the camp and medical adviser. Another building known as the "Barracks," in which the farm hands, at present six in number, are housed, the dairy building, the cow stable, another long building used for the storage of clothing, of which there is a vast quantity, the henry and another building which is used as the office of Dr. Cosgrove and, the mess quarters of the employees.

The farm is well stocked. There are 200 chickens, 12 Holstein cows, 3 calves, and a Holstein bull. Besides there are a large number of pigs and a recent addition of 12 sheep and 4 lambs. There is also a large vegetable garden which has and will furnish the boys with many vegetables during the summer months.

Paradise Point is not ready for occupancy. It is a most healthful spot and contains 11 well built buildings. When sufficient money is on hand to make the necessary changes, this Point can take care of many patients. It is the present idea of the Board of Governors of the Veterans' Mountain Camp to use this point for convalescent patients, those who are not suffering from tuberculosis. Before it can be used it will be necessary to construct a sewage and water system, and raise the buildings for the installation of the heating apparatus. At the present time there are not sufficient funds for this work.

Besides the buildings added to the property, the purchase price included two very fine motor boats and four canoes. The motor boats are used to connect by water with Moody, a small hamlet over three miles from Tupper Lake, where those visiting the camp have to go. It is an eight mile sail from Moody to the camp. The delegation is deeply indebted to the Chamber of Commerce of Tupper Lake, whose members furnished sufficient automobiles to transport them from Tupper Lake Junction to Tupper Lake, where breakfast was served, and from there to Moody and also on the return. In the evening the Citizens Band, numbering 24 pieces, gave the guests a band concert.

Beauty and Politics Do Not Conflict

MRS. LEROY SPRINGS

That beauty and politics do not conflict is strikingly proved by Mrs. LeRoy Springs, Democratic National Committeeman from South Carolina, who was delegate-at-large from her State to the Democratic National Convention in New York City. Her husband also was a State delegate.

60 YEARS YOUNG, TO GO IN MUSICAL COMEDY

James Pierce of 44 Sterling street, who was drum major of the Old Twentieth Regiment during the War of the Rebellion, celebrated his eightieth birthday anniversary Friday, and he says he is "80 years young." While in New York during the past two weeks he was engaged to take a part in a new musical comedy to be launched during the latter part of July by one of the big play producers and theatre owners, which is now in rehearsal. Major Pierce was for some time a member of Col. Pattee's "Five Old Soldier Fiddlers" act that played from coast to coast, later having a part in the play, "Mother Carey's Chickens," and also has appeared in moving picture plays. He made a hit in the American Legion minstrel show given at the high school a few months ago, with his violin playing and dancing.

TROOP 8 ENTERTAINMENT POSTPONED TO JUNE 25.

The program is as follows:

Part 1—Jerome Lehr & Co., novelty act. This act made a big hit at the Orpheum Theater a short time ago.

Part 2—Stereopticon views on Scouting, a very interesting lecture on outdoor life.

Part 3—The playlet, "Nigger Night School," a play in one act, full of jokes and laughs.

Ice cream for sale after play. Help the boys pay for their uniforms.

Useful Sunflower

A vessel recently docked at Hull, England, with a cargo of 2,000 tons of sunflower seeds. These seeds yield a valuable food for cattle and poultry, and the oil expressed from them is almost equal in its qualities to olive oil. The doctor depends upon them for one of his specialties, while in the east of Europe they steep them in boiling water to serve as an infant's food. The Indians used to grind them into a flour for making bread. Even the stems and leaves can be utilized, the former as a cattle food, the latter as fuel, while the ashes left form a valuable manure.

Fans and Blowers For Home Use—Cool Kitchens Mean Contented Cooks

Early June and the back-to-the-land movement among cooks has started. They want a kitchen window which overlooks an orchard, a brook, a garden or a green grassy field. Put the bad air out the back way! Opening all the windows to flood the house with a sweep of fresh air is the ideal way to freshen a house, but in apartments and small houses, in crowded localities, this is not always possible, and the ventilating fan does the work. Such a blower whisks smoke, stale air and odors out through the window or like the new models it can also be reversed and usher fresh, outdoor air in.

These fans may be installed in various ways. An upper sash of the kitchen window, if only one fan is to be placed in the house, is perhaps the best choice. Connected with a cord to a near-by electric lamp socket or outlet a touch of the button sets the fan instantly into motion. A current of air is created which exhausts the air from the room carrying outside with promptness heat, vapors, odors, steam, smoke and other impurities which make the room a happy hunting ground for headaches, nerve fatigue and other discomforts. Reversed, the fan creates a steady stream of freshened air pouring into the room. This is true even in small apartment kitchens in the city.

Such fans are called for in the plans of new model homes, built into the ceiling, or the wall over a range, or, more simply, inserted into a window. But, for installation in a new house or old, these little devices for health and comfort may be purchased mounted on panels adjustable

THE KITCHEN VENTILATOR FAN AT WORK.

The Ventilator Fan, simple to install and economical to use, is so constructed that, whirling one way, it draws odors and heated air out of the house; reversing the action, it draws cool air in.

to fit any sized window. It is the work of a few minutes to mount one (without carpenter work) and is portable, so that it can be carried from room to room and quickly put to work. One such blower in its new, improved design, is light, compact, noiseless. The fan blades are of aluminum, the fittings are nickel-plated and the whole is finished in black and gray enamel. When the fan is not running the window is closed; when in operation the upper window is pulled part way down.

Low Cost Coolness.
The patient in the sick room, the smoky, stuffy living room after a siege of bridge or poker, the freshly fumigated nursery, the damp cellar or steamy laundry, all may have fresh, sweet air without the inconvenience of opened windows and draughts, blowing curtains and papers and pictures askew. Nor is the cost in proportion to the comfort secured. To run one of the installed blowers is no more expensive than to burn the average electric light.

Such fans may be purchased through standard electrical supply dealers.

MODERN COOKING APPARATUS MAKES TINIEST KITCHENETTE

A Cool and Comfortable Spot in Summer—Electric Cooker Fulfills a Long-Felt Want for the One-Room Apartment Dweller.

The kitchenette has indeed become an institution. How our grandmothers would shudder at the thought of cooking in a little cubby home in which there is often scarcely enough room to stand—and how we would shudder at having to cook on a coal range and steam our faces. As Einstein would say "everything is relative—or in relation to everything else." Our grandmothers were slaves to something and we are slaves to something else—but it certainly is not the kitchen or the kitchen range.

The kitchenette, though not the most wonderful innovation in the world, has contributed perhaps more than anything else to better living among those men and women who dwell in crowded cities and are therefore forced to live in small quarters.

Nothing is quite as tiring and unsatisfactory as constant restaurant or boarding house fare. The kitchenette has made it possible for friends to club together and rent a small apartment in place of the old-time furnished hall-room, and cook their own meals. No one but a person who is forced to eat in restaurants appreciates the sentiment of the saying "an egg cooked and eaten in comfort at home tastes better than salmon of duck in the restaurant."

Up to now cooking apparatus has been the drawback to the kitchenette. Those more fortunate have a miniature range, but in the majority of cases, one must be satisfied with a gas or electric hot plate, or an electric grill. Now, however, even this has been obviated by the advent of the electric cooker which does everything from roasting a turkey to cooking vegetable soup or broiling a steak.

The cooker occupies a small amount of space and is made in a nickel finish. It will do everything that the regular size range will do, and in many cases, do it better. Hot weather has no terrors for apartment dwellers whose kitchenettes boast an electric cooker.

Workmen of a Brooklyn, N. Y. electric service company while digging a trench for electric conduits unearthed remains of a Revolutionary soldier. They were working near the site of Fort Greene where some of the hardest fighting of the Battle of Long Island took place.

THE BRIDE'S FIRST HOME DINNER

Cooked Electrically It is Bound To Be a Success.

The bride's first dinner at home should be simple but wholesome. A meal that is sure to please the average young husband consists of real spring vegetable soup, tender, juicy boiled beef with horseradish sauce and some kind of salad or a sweet according to taste. A fireless cooker simplifies matters and adds hours of leisure to the day.

Vegetable Soup.

Purchase a pound and a half of soup meat, preferably a piece from the shin. With this be sure to get several good soup bones, for these are especially rich in nutriment. Rinse the meat in cold water and put it into a good-sized pot with enough water to cover it. Add to this two onions, one potato chopped, a piece of turnip, stalk of celery, carrots, leek, and a quart of strained tomatoes. Season with salt and pepper to taste. Boil in roomy pot in the oven. Keep the heat high for twenty-five minutes. Then switch it off and let the soup cook in the fireless way for two or three hours. Usually the longer it cooks the better it is.

Boiled Beef and Horseradish Sauce.

Serve the soup first and the meat as the main dish with horseradish sauce. Make this with five table-spoonfuls of drained and grated horseradish, eight table-spoonfuls of cream, one of lemon juice, four drops of tarragon vinegar, two egg yolks whipped, a salt-spoon of salt and four blanched almonds which have been chopped.

Mix the whipped cream and yolks of eggs; then add the horseradish, lemon juice, vinegar, salt and almonds and stir steadily until all are very well blended.

Lettuce Rolls.

This dish is rich enough that it may serve for both salad and dessert. Have ready one head of lettuce, one cupful cottage cheese, one half cupful seedless raisins, one-half cupful chopped walnut-meats, one-half cupful mayonnaise, salt.

Mix together the cottage cheese, raisins and nuts. Add the mayonnaise and blend thoroughly. Add salt, if needed. Use the larger leaves of crisp lettuce; spread them with the cheese mixture and roll up like a jelly roll. This recipe is planned for several people, but may be easily reduced. Serve two rolls on each salad plate.

Apple Shortcake.

This may be put into the oven about half an hour before the meal is finished roasting and the two may be finished together. Sift four cupfuls of flour with a teaspoonful of salt and two teaspoonfuls of baking powder; chop into this a table-spoonful of butter and one of lard, and make into soft dough with two cupfuls of milk. Roll out about half an inch thick and cut part of it to fit the bottom of a round or square baking tin. Have ready two cupfuls of tart apples, peeled, cored and sliced, lay these on the dough, strewn over them half a cupful of sugar and half a teaspoonful of cinnamon or nutmeg. Lay another sheet of dough about half the thickness of the first over the apples and bake in a steady oven for half an hour or until the crust is lightly browned. Eat hot with hard sauce or with butter and sugar.

Concealed electric fans are used by one of the New York city museums to distribute heat and supply proper ventilation for its exhibit of the interior of a Colonial house brought from North Carolina. The fans are located behind the panelling of the rooms so as to blow a current of warm air through the partially open windows and, also, at the entrance and exit to carry off vitiated air.

Modern Miracle Workers!

We live in an age of industry—of soft coal soot and of dust raising hustle and bustle, the dirt of which finds its way into our dwellings. Nevertheless, electric household appliances have been the means of actually reducing the hours of drudgery for the housewife. These mechanical servants prolong the life of her prized household furnishings, her dainty linens and fabrics and they add more hours to her day for leisure and play.

Only a few years have passed since the first crude vacuum cleaners, washing machines and electric irons were put on the market. Today millions of housewives who have discovered their advantages depend upon their efficient help for release from the drudgery that goes with the old time methods.

You are wasting precious time and energy if you are not making use of these modern miracle workers—the vacuum cleaner, the washing machine and the electric iron. You can get standard makes of these appliances at your electric contractor's shop or at the office of the lighting company.

Broadcast Bill's Radiolays

By WILLIAM E. DOUGLASS

Had to mow the lawn this evenin' after all the other chores just got in as they broadcasted all the final baseball scores. That's the game fer me, by crackin', an' I'm hopin' some fine day I kin run into the city where them big league fellers play 'Course we've got the home town Eagles, which ain't lost a game all spring handin' goose-eggs out promiscuous without ruffin' up a wing. But, if I could see a real game I'd be tickled half to death, one where they are always pullin' plays that make you hold yer breath. I don't want to cast reflexions or to be misunderstood as regards our team at home here fer I'll tell the world they're good. Still I ketch myself a wishin' an' a hopin' all the same that some day somehow or other I kin see a big league game. In the meantime while I'm waitin' for my wishes to come true which, if I keep wishin' hard enough, I know they're bound to do, I take in most every baseball game our fellers play out here at the same time keepin' posted on the big games, never fear when I'm sittin' on the bleachers watchin' our boys swat the pill I know what the Cubs are doin'. Giants too, an' better still mebbe I'll get information on the Pirates winnin' streak. Sorter stimulate the interest in our own game so to speak. Why, I've even got a scoreboard showin' all the big league games where I post the scores by innin's, even show the pitchers' names. Well now mebbe there ain't no class to us, but don't that go to show how handy things kin be worked out by means of Radio—Copyright, 1924, Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co.

1924'S DEMURE STRAW POKE.

(By Eleanor Gunn).

While the greatest interest in millinery today centers around the square or high crowned hat—for those who look months ahead for their ideas insist that the cloche has had its day—the statement lacks conviction with every other woman one meets wearing one. One still speaks of summer in the future tense, and until it is spoken of in the past, the cloche is important. Strictly speaking all hats which trimming: once the only kind which seemed to achieve the desired balance

For sports wear the Bangkok cloche has to share honors with the sailor. For formal occasions one has a wide range of shapes, many women accepting broad brimmed hats even going so far as to countenance considerable trimming, relatively speaking. Small birds, nature fakers most of them, ostrich in disguised form, novelty feathers of bewildering men; flowers and fabric manipulation are among the most popular forms of trimming.

One of course must not forget the are mushroom are not of course bell shaped which is what the term implies. There are pokes which are in sympathy with the Directoire tendency. Irregularities exist as to width, elongated right brims and brims which contrive to roll up after having successfully rolled down, as in the mode with trailing feather at the side. One should designate which side for right side trimmings, for these are by no means the only ones noted just now, there being a tendency to popularize the left hand hat with the scarf, or the one which has something velvet about it for fashion approves velvet for warm weather wear, not a logical choice perhaps, but one which needs no apology on the score of chic. Presumably the argument is, it feels like velvet, and felt has a long record of success behind, and many believe before it. Certainly wherever smart women are congregated in the name of sports, the yellow felt hat is sure to be! (Copyright, 1924, Fairchild.)

THE WHY, WHEN AND WHERE OF FASHIONS

In the history of costumes one will find that certain articles or peculiar shapes came together with certain other garments as best fitted to make a harmonious whole. Capes, for instance, were in vogue in times when the size or elaborate trimmings of the sleeves made it impossible and undesirable to confine them into coat sleeves.

Roughly speaking, one meets with three principal types of capes in the past. The earliest and perhaps most graceful shape, which found its perfect development in the XV century is a very long and full garment suspended from a shaped yoke and gathered around the body. This is the closest type to the classic toga-like garments from which capes are said to have descended. In the XVI century another form of capes occur. These were worn by men only and had long bag-like sleeves. The arms, however, were thrust through large openings. The sleeves served only to carry books and other articles. Women of the XVI century with their ornamental leg-of-mutton and puff sleeves wore short capes provided with side arm-holes.

The extremely elaborate, slashed and trimmed sleeves of the XVII and XVIII centuries made capes again a necessity, but they were made much shorter in order to show the lower part of the toilette. During the recent war the capes worn by the French and Italian officers served as models for a brief revival of this type of garments.

Ventilating Now Comes

is impractical, there are excellent electrical fans, large and small models, to place on a bedside table, or in a stuffy corner of the living room, or in the hall where a current of air can be sent up the stairs and through the rooms.

Fresh, invigorating air for the kitchen worker is the first great aim of such a fan. But besides that, there is a real saving in decorations, hangings, and furniture throughout the house by eliminating the fumes, smoke and soot which inevitably work their way out of the kitchen.

On a hot and sultry night, when sleep is difficult, all the doors and windows on the lower floor can be closed, and all the bedroom windows opened—and the kitchen ventilator will set a strong current of fresh air flowing through the bedrooms toward the kitchen, to the all-night relief of sleepers.

Electric blowers and fans will bring breezes where there were none before, and cost you little while at it.

"THEY ARE WEARING."

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

Cardinal red crepe de chine made a straightline evening gown, the pleated skirt and hip length back cape of which was finished with cream silk lace a foot deep.

Wool threads were pulled from the hem, collar and sleeves of a rough brick red woolen topcoat and a conventionalized floral design woven in with thick gray wool thread forming a distinctive border.

An effective hat was made of alternate sections of petit point and black taffeta. The tiny brim was turned up in the front and a narrow grosgrain ribbon running around the base of the crown was tied on the side.

On Fifth avenue a bright day this week a very smart suit seen was of soft rose colored wool in a cretonne pattern. The box coat and skirt border was finished off with a corded band of a deep shade of rose silk.

A navy blue coat frock, employed flying panels of varicolored embroidery set at either hip. Touches of the stitchery marked collar and cuffs.

An evening gown with a straight basque waist and bouffant skirt was made of soft shell pink taffeta shadow plaided with pastel shades of pink and lavender. Its sole ornamentation was a large shaded magenta rose placed at one side of the low waistline.

The combination of black and royal blue was marked in a number of costumes seen recently. It appeared on coats, dresses and hats.

An effective gown worn by a matron was of king blue crepe, self trimmed with a deep willowed ostrich collar or blue and gray.

A smart looking debutante wore a satin foulard, which employed large violet flowers on a gray ground. The decorated fabric was posed in tunic form over a plain gray satin slip. With this picture hat of black straw was worn trimmed sparsely with drooping yellow flowers.

Rust colored bengaline was chosen for a tailored suit by a smartly dressed woman seen on Fifth avenue. The jacket was of three-quarter length with mannish double pockets. A cerise scarf was worn with it, the two colors presenting a striking and unusual contrast.

A tailored suit with boyish hip-length jacket developed in a plaided woolen fabric was worn by a woman of advanced years on Fifth avenue. The predominating colors in the plaid were green, yellow and black.

Red leather trimmed a well tailored navy twill suit.

A woven figured woolen, resembling a Navajo rug, was the medium for a wrap-around three-quarter coat worn with a black, side rolled Milan hat trimmed in green.

A smart adaptation of the scarf vogue, making it an integral part of the costume, was one chosen by a well dressed woman who wore a yellow crepe scarf, printed in a bold black flowered design, with a yellow felt hat having a large black patent leather ornament across the front. The yellows matched exactly.

Suede gloves in gray and sand shades and usually in short lengths have been generally accepted judging from women noted about town this week.

Gregory Mabry, who has been ill at the Presbyterian Hospital in New York since the beginning of February, has been able to return and will be present at the high Mass Sunday, delivering the sermon. The high Mass will partake of the nature of a thanksgiving for his recovery thus far, and will be festive in character. Special music will be sung, and the Mass will be followed by a procession of the Blessed Sacrament and benediction.

THE SWIMMER'S SMART SUIT.

(By Eleanor Gunn.)

"Be brief," says fashion in laying down her bathing suit laws, and designers have taken the cue and been brief to the gasping point. The lore of this spring and summer flaunts her bloomers way below the tunic which forms all there is of the beach bathing suit, with the exception perhaps of a matching cape.

Knitted suits have attained prestige and not among swimmers alone. They may be brilliantly striped or plain or black bordered with Roman stripes. A prejudice against a knitted suit no longer exists, some mature women wearing them.

Curiously enough after a season or more of very bright bathing suits, with black worn only by the conservatives, black appears to be first on the list again. Black taffetas, meire and gros grain silks, black alpaca and crepes all have enthusiastic sponsors who introduce color in their head-dresses, sometimes with matching hose and gay parasols and capes.

One of the latest color combinations launched in Paris is black worn with deep mauve hats, and perhaps a boutonniere and this combination is suggested for beach wear, stockings, bandana and parasol being purple, the suit black. One might perhaps have a black tunic over purple bloomers or straight line pantalette for many smart bathing suits have a cool suggestion, many coat tunics having a Chinese neckline.

Folk dots are among the impressive patterns of the season; not as universally worn as stripes, nor as popular as plaids, but none the less smart for all that. The beach girl may want a scarf to protect her shoulders from wind or sun, and in this case she will want it to match her bandana. Both may be of plaid gingham, though the suit may be of a more pretentious material, and she may carry a gingham umbrella, such as Americans bought at Deauville last summer.

It is generally conceded that rubber shoes are the best for beach wear. They too may be had in sets which include a cap often in two tone rubber. Those who go in for eccentricities will approve of a new novelty, a vanity bag of rubberized silk made after a silhouette of a duck or fish. It has become rather fashionable to wear a good looking bathrobe on the beach. These are frequently of striped flannel, and blazers are as welcomed on the sands as are the tennis courts and golf links.

THE CHURCH AT WAR—NATIONS DIVIDED

millions now living will never die

Should the persistent failure to bring peace and the collapse of nations fill us with despair?

And now Christianity develops a rift. Modernists destroy faith in the Bible; the Fundamentalists hold for unquestioned acceptance of creeds.

In what product of man's wisdom can we take refuge?

Every one of his schemes has resulted in dismal failure. Must people abandon hope?

The world's future is involved in present perplexities.

These conditions, foretold in the Bible, when rightly understood unfold the Creator's beneficent designs for man's happiness on earth.

Newcombe Buys Schmidt Place

Oil Corporation Head Becomes Owner Of Manor Avenue Property and Lowlands—Former Owner Improved It Extensively.

One of the largest real estate transactions in this city in many years has been practically closed by Brinnier & Carey, real estate and insurance brokers, 53 John street, for the transfer of what is known as the Schmidt Manor Lake Farm on Manor avenue and the lowlands to A. R. Newcombe of Kingston and Catskill. The sale includes about 53 acres of choice farming lands bordering on the Esopus creek, with a lake, the mansion, and outbuildings. Mr. Newcombe is head of the Newcombe Oil Corporation, with several stations throughout Kingston for the distribution of Keystone gasoline and Velvet oils and greases, and it is said he will make his home at Manor Lake Farm.

The farm, known for years as the Shufeldt farm, was purchased a number of years ago by Fritz G. Schmidt of New York who spent a large amount of money on the place, erecting a mansion, large barns which he stocked with valuable horses and cattle. He converted the Shufeldt binnekill into a fine lake, and spent a considerable sum in driving piles and cribbing the bank of the Esopus creek to prevent erosion of the banks in time of freshets.

Later Mr. Schmidt purchased the old Ulster county fair grounds and many connecting acres with the aim of having a mile race track constructed there, but these plans were not carried out and this property and the Manor Lake Farm passed into the hands of C. E. Grommel of New York, a brother-in-law of Mr. Schmidt. Several months ago the fair grounds and adjacent lands were purchased by Schuyler C. Schultz, John J. Cuneo and Raymond L. Thompson, who formed the Roosevelt Park Realty Company, Inc. The sale of the Manor Lake Farm by Mr. Grommel through Brinnier & Carey closes out the real estate holdings of Mr. Schmidt in this city. The consideration was not stated, but it is understood to be a large amount.

Deny McAdoo Is Klan Candidate

By Telegram to The Freeman. New York, June 21.—Efforts of anti-McAdoo forces to spread the impression that McAdoo is a "Klan candidate" were vigorously denied today in a statement made public by James F. Heslin, New England manager for McAdoo.

The statement in part said: "The coalition against McAdoo having failed to stop his progress, has now entered into a conspiracy to inject this false issue into the campaign with the desperate hope of injuring the man whom the Democratic and Progressive voters of the United States are determined to nominate and elect to the presidency. "Mr. McAdoo has always stood and stands for that broad standard of Americanism that recognizes no distinction in race or creed. He deplores the attempt to inject religious issues into public affairs."

McAdoo remained inaccessible to newspaper correspondents today in his headquarters.

BROWN SAYS REDUCTION IS TEMPORARY

The Brown Tire Company of 662 Broadway announced a drop in the price of automobile tires in the advertising columns of this issue. Harris Brown, who has been in the tire business for a number of years, states that the present drop of 15 per cent on regular tires and 20 per cent on balloon tires, as announced by some dealers, will be followed by practically all manufacturers of standard make tires within a short time but that the drop will be a temporary one. He predicts prices will again go up within a short time after stocks have been decreased.

By Telegram to The Freeman. New York, June 21.—The Democratic national committee, holding its final session before the opening of the convention, perfected its convention organization by formal election of temporary officers.

A spirit of harmony pervaded the session, climaxed by an announcement from Chairman Cordell Hull that no contests had been filed in any of the delegations to the convention.

The committee, in selecting convention officers, named J. J. Hughes, of Iowa as sergeant at arms, and Joseph S. Sinnott, of Virginia, as head door keeper. It also used the national committee men and women to select 48 assistant secretaries, one from each state.

Society Notes

Miss Marguerite Gauld celebrated her twenty-first birthday on June 11. Her mother presented her with a beautiful pearl ring. Many other gifts testified to Miss Marguerite's great popularity. Quite a number of her classmates of the business college in Kingston were among the guests. The Gaulds are fortunate in having a quaint old-fashioned house, where the employees used to bunk in lumbering days. Decorated with lilacs and lighted with old-fashioned lanterns, the place looked very charming and gave good space for dancing. The dining room adjoining was just the place for refreshments. Walter Shults played for the dancing and was aided by a young performer on the concertina, who is really very good, only he has one of those names that can't be remembered. There were two very happy parties, and the guests heartily wished Marguerite and Will "many happy returns of the day."

Card-Haynes.
Ruth B. Haynes, R. N., was married on June 19 to Elias T. Card at Greenland, N. H., by the Rev. E. K. Amazeen.

Special Monday Club Meeting.
There will be a special meeting of the Monday Club on Monday afternoon, June 23, at 4 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. Charles De La Vergne on Clinton avenue, to make final arrangements for the course of study and lectures, which will begin in the fall. A full attendance of club members will be necessary.

Miss Marguerite Gauld and her brother Will Gauld have been celebrating their birthdays by giving a party—not one party for both, but each on the appropriate date. So the lovely Gauld homestead, overlooking Willow Valley has been the scene of joyous festivities. On June 18 a large crowd from Kingston, Lake Hill, Shady and Willow motored up to wish Will Gauld many more happy birthdays and watch him try his luck at extinguishing the candles on the birthday cake. He made it in two blows, so it was deduced that he would be married twice. Quite an array of humorous and useful presents accompanied the birthday greetings. Dancing and refreshments were thoroughly enjoyed.

Randall-Harmon.
The wedding of Elmer D. Randall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred G. Randall of Highland, and of New York city, and Miss Eva Loveland Harmon, daughter of Mrs. William C. Harmon of Jackson, Heights, New York, was solemnized Thursday, June 12, at Flushing, N. Y., the former residence of the contracting parties and where they first met during their grammar school days. The ceremony was performed by Dr. George Douglas of the First Baptist Church, it taking place in the parsonage with only immediate relatives of the contracting couple being present, the family of the bride being in mourning for her father, the late William C. Harmon, precluding a more pretentious wedding. Immediately following the ceremony the couple left on a motor honeymoon trip after which they will be at home for the summer to their friends at the residence of the groom's parents in Highland. Later they will establish their own residence in Poughkeepsie, where Mr. Randall is engaged in business.

Financial and Commercial

By Telegram to The Freeman. New York, June 21.—Although fractions were narrow in most cases and trading was in light volume the drift of prices was again upward in the stock exchange today. New speculative commitments were held down, in some instances curtailed. However, underlying strength was much in evidence and a spirit of confidence ran through the dealings which received additional stimulus from the more optimistic tone struck by the week-end and mercantile reviews.

Railroad shares again assumed a position of importance, many of them attaining new high prices for the year, including Southern Railway, Missouri, Kansas and Texas, Western Pacific and the Erie. The advance in the low priced rails was caused by reports of consolidations.

Schulte Stores continued its upward march, buying being on expectation of a merger with the United Cigar Stores. Industrial Alcohol disclosed strength. Public Utilities furthered their advance in the early dealings under the leadership of Brooklyn Union Gas, Montana Power and United Ry. investment, but subsequent profit taking created a somewhat easier tone.

The list in general showed increasing firmness in the latter part of the session, closing steady.

SUIT TO RESTRAIN NEW YORK CENTRAL R. R.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Cleveland, O., June 21.—Alleging 19 specific violations of the Sherman and Clayton anti-trust acts, the General Investment Company of Maine today filed suit in United States district court here for an injunction against the New York Central Railroad Company to restrain it from controlling, through its directors, the Michigan Central, Big Four, Cincinnati Northern and Toledo and Ohio Central Railroad Companies, which came under the control of the New York Central, the petition recites, through the consolidation of 1914. The petition declares that these railroads, especially the Big Four, through an interlocking decree, have been prevented from competition with the New York Central for traffic over parallel lines.

Next Bouts Here Fourth of July

Expected to Match Joe Werner and Johnny Middy, Who Put Up Slashing Fight at Last Bout—Dave Weber May be on Card and Also Don Hyatt.

The Kingston Exhibitions, Inc., have decided to hold the third of the series of open air boxing exhibitions at the Kingston Fair Grounds the evening of the Fourth of July, and the management is now busy making up the card for the show.

It is expected that Joe Werner of this city and Johnny Middy of Peekskill, who put up such a slashing fight at the last bouts will be rematched, this time for ten rounds. The boys stepped eight rounds at the last show and it was easily the best fight staged that night, and one of the best fights ever seen in Kingston. Werner received the decision, but had to extend himself to the utmost to win it.

Dave Weber of New York who made such a hit with the fans by forcing Joe Romanelli of Poughkeepsie to quit in the third round of what was to have been a ten round bout will probably be matched to meet a fast boy. Weber was one of the fastest and cleanest fighters seen here in some time.

It is also expected to match Don Hyatt of this city with a fast boy from New York. The fans are anxious to see Don in action and he wants to redeem himself from the defeat he received at the hands of Romanelli on Decoration Day.

As soon as the card is completed it will be announced.

Oneonta Giants Again Tomorrow

At the Fair Grounds this afternoon, the Oneonta Giants are playing the local club in the first game of the season. On Sunday at the usual hour this team will also be the attraction.

The Oneonta Giants for the past several years have had a very formidable team and from their average of games won this season, they will also make a good showing. A number of last season's players are again with the Giants.

The probable line-up for Oneonta on Sunday will be as follows: Wilcox, 1; Fitch, 2; Faye, 3; Eckstein, 4; Harner, 5; Wilson, 1b; Thomas, rf; Sinstack, c or rf; Boylan, v, and Roche, p.

Colonials Again Beat All Stars

Chapple Johnson's All Stars met defeat for the third time this season at the hands of the Colonials Friday evening at the Fair Grounds, score 5 to 3.

The Colonials played errorless ball behind Perry, who pitched a good game. The All Stars made eight safeties, while the Schrickmen hit ten.

Dugan and Ewing were the leading hitters of the occasion, each making three safe blows. Ewing had a home run in his collection.

In the first inning, the colored team scored a run, which the local team got back in the second. In the third inning the Colonials piled up four runs, putting the game in the bag. The losers tallied in the fourth and sixth.

The Colonials looked good again, after getting the off day out of their system, which happened on Thursday, against the Cubans. In the two games over the week end with Oneonta the local team should get an even break.

The lowly Phils came to life and lambasted the Robins, 10 to 1. Moan got the only homer of the day. The Pirates outlived the Reds to win 9 to 4. Twenty-seven hits figured.

Thirty-three players figured in the slugfest in which the Indians edged out the Tigers 11 to 9. Peckinpaugh's double in the twelfth gave Washington the verdict over the Athletics, 3 to 2.
